Project	Barangaroo South is one of three developments on the western edge of the Sydney central business district. The 7.5 hectare site is being transformed into a mix use precinct that includes commercial, residential, retail, and a new landmark hotel. Lend Lease is responsible for delivering the Barangaroo South site.
The challenge	Lend Lease project engineers specified Hauff-Technik cable sealing systems to seal incoming Telstra conduits and cabling at the Barangaroo South project. The Hauff-Technik system was specified because engineers from Lend Lease were concerned about the ongoing maintenance cost from water ingress entering the site where incoming conduits penetrated the capping beam. Hateflex flexible conduits were installed to navigate around existing services that could not be removed.
